MEAT STAYS ON OPA LIST

Canned Fruits, Juices Removed From Controls By Anderson

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—The worsening meat shortage brought an official threat of government seizure of all market-bound livestock.

That unprecedented step was described by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson as "a very real danger that day by day becomes more of a possibility."

Anderson's assertion to a group of New Mexico cattlemen coincided with his formal announcement through the Agriculture department here that meat must remain on the government's list of scarce farm products.

At the same time Anderson erased from the list—and from price control—all canned fruits, juices, nuts and corn, along with fresh and frozen salmon, oat cereals and rum.

Urges Cooperation
What lingering hopes the meat industry might still have had that the way might be cleared for lifting OPA ceilings in a bid to farmers to speed their stock to market apparently were dashed by the announcement here.

Anderson made the point more emphatic in his Albuquerque address yesterday by declaring that any new decontrol period would simply lead to "feast and then famine."

Pleading for "cooperation in trying to bring meat back to the American people...at legitimate prices," the secretary asked the executive board of the New Mexico cattle growers association "what do you have to suggest?"

Anderson held out still another warning to the stockmen—that the long standing fight against importing Argentine beef into this country might be reopened by public demand.

The army disclosed yesterday that it is trying to buy some of its meat.

Residence Badly Damaged By Fire

Fire gutted the Orleha Alexander residence, 234 Hogan's place, at 9 a. m. today.

Evidently originating in the basement of the home, the blaze swept up through the first and second floor rooms of the frame structure, destroying almost all the furniture and personal effects in the house.

Firemen arrived on the scene a few minutes past 9 a. m. and had the blaze under control in less than 15 minutes, but it was too late to save anything inside the house. They stayed at the scene until nearly noon.

The interior walls, floors and ceilings were charred badly and all of the furniture was burned or damaged beyond use. The exterior of the house was saved and the roof apparently had been undamaged.

A swift breeze aided the progress of the blaze.

Frost Again Forecast; Mercury Sinks To 38

The first general frost of the 1946 autumn season appeared in scattered parts of Ohio this morning, but it was light and no damage was reported.

Salem thermometers dropped to an official low of 38 degrees last night and many citizens started furnace fires for the first time this fall. With a bright sun, the mercury had climbed to 51 by noon today, but cool winds persisted.

The light breeze last night helped to keep away heavier frosts.

Light to heavy frost is forecast for tonight.

Atcheson Explains U. S. Concern Over Dardanelles Issue

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Undersecretary of State Acheson declared today the United States is actively interested in Russian demands on Turkey over control of the Dardanelles because American policy is concerned with any question which might develop a threat to peace.

Acheson told a news conference that American officials are presently considering exactly what the United States should do about Russia's second note to the Turks last week. This reiterated Russian insistence on a share in military control of the straits and asked for negotiations directly with Turkey.

Denies Turk Appeal To U. S.
However, he flatly denied published reports that Turkey already had appealed to this country for help in the situation, saying that Turkey had not asked the United States for support yet.

Similarly he said he had no information to indicate that the Turkish army is on a virtual war alert.

On other foreign policy issues Acheson told his news conference: 1. The United States intends to remain in Korea as an occupying power until it has brought about a unified and independent Korean nation.

2. Navy Secretary Forrestal's statement declaring that American forces are in the Mediterranean to help carry out American foreign policy was cleared by the State department early last week. Acheson said the statement was issued by the Navy simply to give an organized answer to a lot of questions which had come in on the Mediterranean force.

3. The United States welcomes a statement issued by the Argentine foreign minister, Juan Bramuglia, declaring his government proposes to speed up action against Axis elements in Argentina.

TRANSIT STRIKE GRIPS COLUMBUS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—A strike by operators and maintenance men halted city traction and bus service in Ohio's capital today.

Union operators began walking out at 12:01 a. m. and were joined by maintenance crews.

Vehicles on runs when the strike declared fell returned to barns at which the CIO Transport Workers union established picket lines.

President J. B. Poston of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. reported shortly before last midnight that nearly five hours of negotiations with unionists had failed to prevent the strike.

The negotiations went for naught when John J. Ryan, international representative of the union, and two other members left to notify workers to start the strike as scheduled.

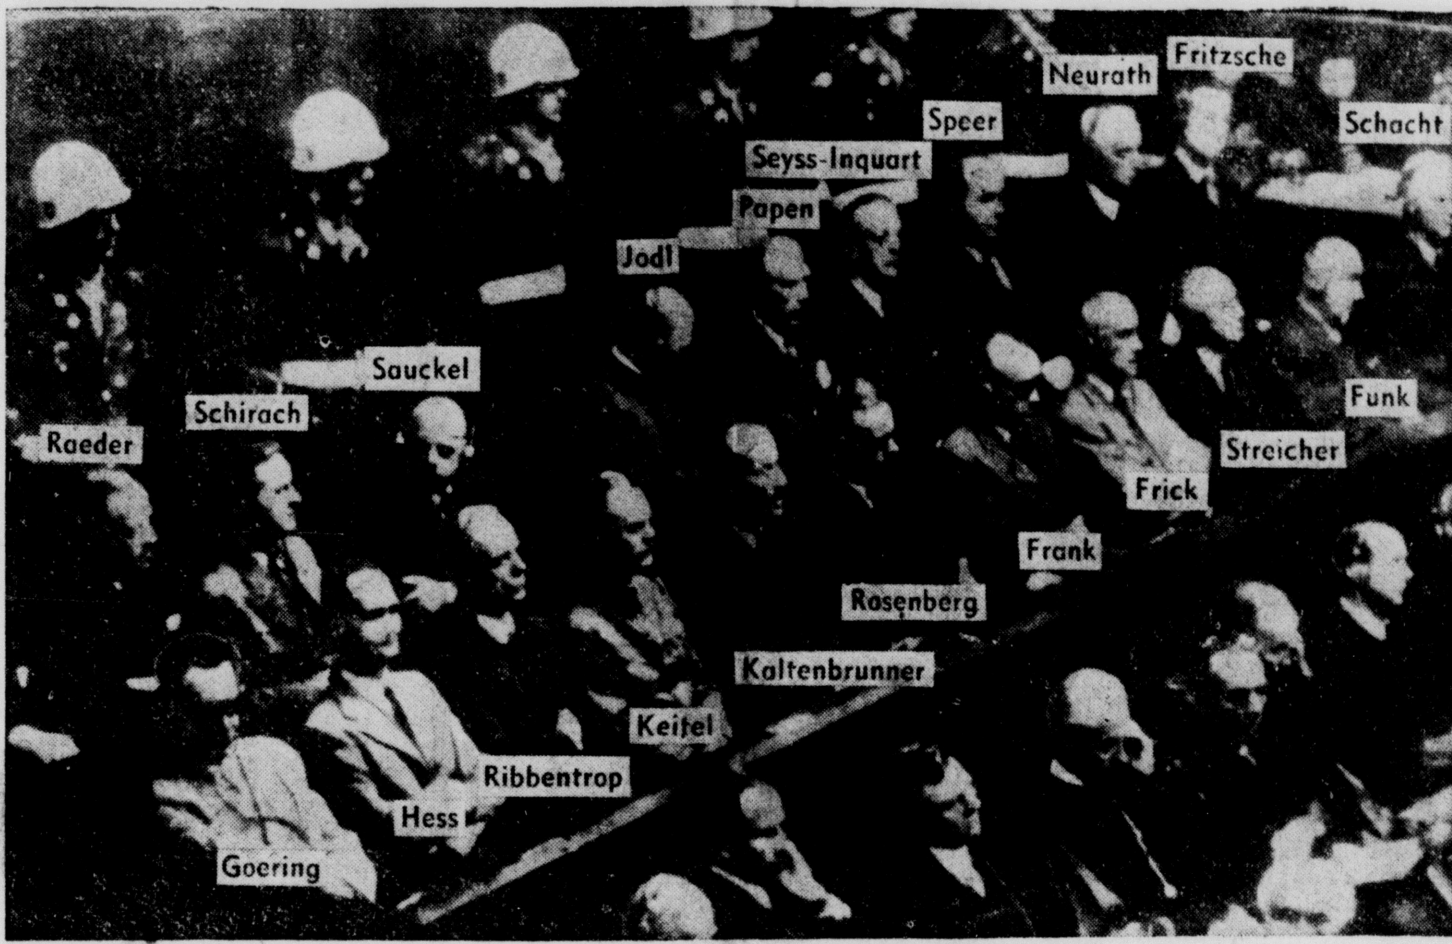

Thomas T. Miller, local union president, said the company had not increased previous offers of an eight-cent an hour pay increase and a 48-hour work week.

The union is demanding an increase of 30 cents an hour, a 42-hour work week, closed shop and other concessions. Operators have been averaging $50.60 for a 50-hour week, Miller said.

War Criminals of Nazi Germany Hear Verdict: 'Guilty'

Defendants in the war crimes trial at Nuremberg, Germany, are under heavy guard in the prisoners' box as they listen to the justices read the verdict which holds Nazi Germany guilty of aggressive war against 11 nations. The verdict also contained the fate of each of the individuals. Adm. Doenitz, the 21st prisoner, not shown in the picture, is at Raeder's right.

KLAN LINKED TO U. S. BUND

Evidence of Ties, 1937 to 1941, Uncovered By Justice Department

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—The Justice department said today it has uncovered evidence establishing links between the Ku Klux Klan and the German-American Bund from 1937 to 1941.

An official who has read the evidence said it "definitely proves that the two organizations collaborated to promote racial and religious dissension prior to the war."

He told a reporter that government agents investigating Klan activities ferreted out the evidence of Bund-Klan ties.

The department has promised swift prosecution of the Klan if any violations of federal laws are found.

Collaboration Charges
The official said the evidence of collaboration includes:

1. Documentary statements that in 1937 the two organizations discussed the formation of an anti-labor third party as a move to align labor against other elements of the population.

2. Records of a joint meeting by Klan and Bund officials at Camp Nordland, N. Y., in 1940.

3. An affidavit that an assistant Bund director stated in 1937 the Bund was cooperating with the Klan and "similar organizations" because "our aims are similar in many ways."

Terming these "just a sample" of the evidence of Klan-Bund ties, the official said government agents still are investigating the Klan in New York, Michigan, Tennessee, Florida, California, Mississippi and Georgia.

He said "a number of new complaints" of alleged civil rights violations have been received and added:

"There may lead to an extension of the investigation to other states."

Sentenced In Robbery

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—David E. Matters, 21, of Pittsburgh, one of four men who robbed a Columbus grocery of $1,105 last April 12, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in Mansfield reformatory yesterday on his plea of guilty to armed robbery. Two companions are serving terms in Ohio penitentiary. The fourth man has not been apprehended.

Fly From Australia To Ohio In 55 Hours

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—The "Truculent Turtle," navy patrol bomber, landed at Port Columbus at 12:28 p. m. (EST) today, completing a record-breaking non-stop flight of 11,237 miles from Perth, Australia. The unofficial elapsed time was 55 hours and 18 minutes.

The twin-engine Lockheed Neptune P2V, carrying a crew of four men and a bay kankaroo, thereby exceeded by 3,321 miles the non-stop mark of 7,916 miles set last November by the army's B29 "Dream Boat."

On hand to greet the long-distance fliers were members of the Columbus naval air station plus delegations of navy officials who flew here from Washington and Chicago, headed by Admiral Edward W. Ewen, commanding officer of the naval air reserve training station at Glenview, Ill.

Examined For Fatigue
The fliers, headed by Cmdr. Thomas D. Davies of Cleveland, were to be given a physical examination for fatigue immediately.

Then they were to relate their experiences to newsmen.

Other members of the record-breaking expedition who left Perth at 5:10 a. m. EST, Sunday, were Comdrs. Eugene P. Rankin of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Walter S. Reid of Washington, D. C., and Lt. Cmdr. Roy H. Tabelling of Jacksonville, Fla.

The plane had checked in with radio stations north of Sacramento, Calif., just after midnight. The crew first planned to set down at Des Moines, Ia., then decided to push on eastward to Ohio's capital.

The four men emerged from the bomber looking tired and haggard.

Beal of Pittsburgh, the second to religion, under Dr. Russell Humbert of Youngstown, the third to public service, under Warren C. Speakers will include Gov. Frank J. Lausche, former Governor John W. Bricker, public officials, industrialists and editors.

Hunting Club, Comparatively New Group, Aims at Objectives

Hunting season is not far away and as usual, district nimrods are busy "oiling up" their firearms, seeking that always "hard-to-get" stuff to use in them and wondering about the problems which always confront them.

Such unanswerable questions as: "What kind of a season will it be? How much game is available in this section this year? What is the attitude of the farmer who owns the hunting land, etc., are ponderable eating at the minds of the hunters as the season's opening rolls around.

The Salem Hunting club, organized in February, 1945, is a group devoted primarily to helping the hunter and the land owners in a formative body to see what can be done to answer and relieve some of these pressing questions.

Led by Charles B. Mangus, president, and a competent and well-versed group of officers, the club has dedicated itself to doing the most to bring about better hunting and fishing throughout this part of Ohio.

DROUTH WORST HERE SINCE 1930

Only 1.10 inches of rainfall fell in this district in September, U. S. Weather Observer L. H. Copeland reported today, adding to a severe drouth which has seen only 5.10 inches of rainfall since Jan. 21.

Copeland reports that the current dearth of rainfall is "the worst we have had since the fall of 1930." He says wells, cisterns, springs and streams are near the vanishing point and the underground water table is unusually low.

The month of September, besides being unusually short on rainfall, was slightly above normal in temperature with warm days, a large percentage of sunshine and contrastingly cold evenings.

Temperature Average
The month's average temperature was 63.5 while the average for September for the past 53 years is 62.9 degrees. The highest temperature was recorded on Sept. 7, a 93-degree reading, and the lowest, 33, on the 15th. Light frosts were recorded on several nights.

Total precipitation for the month was 1.10 inches as compared to the average for September of 2.87 inches.

Sunshine was 80 per cent this month with six rainy days, 17 clear, nine partly cloudy and four cloudy.

Copeland reports that most pastures are burned out, wheat has been planted in dust and that nearly all livestock is on full winter ration—an unusual fact for this early in the fall. The corn and late potato crop is light with most corn fields not yet in shock.

September 1945 had an average temperature of 65.1, with a high of 93, a low of 40 and 7.64 inches of rainfall.

Copeland says the average for the first killing frost over the past 53 years is Oct. 4.

He predicts much "bright blue" October weather, more rainfall with temperatures near normal.

Von Papen, 2 Others Freed

(By Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Oct. 1—The international war crimes tribunal today decreed death on the gallows for 12 leaders of the Adolf Hitler gang, sentenced seven to prison, and—with Russia dissenting—acquitted three defendants.

The court, after sentencing to death Hermann Goering, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and 10 other Nazi henchmen, announced that Russia had protested against the tribunal's acquittal of Franz Von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche. The Soviet judge, Maj. Gen. I. T. Nikitchenko, also protested that Rudolf Hess should have been hanged instead of receiving the life imprisonment sentence the court handed him, and objected to yesterday's acquittal of the general staff and high command.

Judges of Britain, the United States and France joined in the majority opinion, which now will be carried out by the Allied control council, representing all four Allies.

Legal officials of the American military government said that if any of the three Nazi leaders acquitted were returned to the U. S. zone of occupation they probably would be tried by Germans under the zone's deNazification law.

The officials said because Schacht and Von Papen owned property in more than one zone it was conjectural to which they might be returned. Legal experts in Berlin expressed belief the Russians might get custody of Fritzsche, whom they arrested in Berlin and delivered to Nuernberg for trial.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, expressed regret that "the tribunal has felt constrained to acquit Schacht and Von Papen and to decline to declare the criminality of the general staff." He said in a formal statement that "the effect of these acquittals on the further prosecution of industrialists and militarists which have been planned will have to be studied from the text of the opinion."

Death Also Decreed For Field Marshal Keitel

Others sentenced to death were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Alfred Rosenberg, Hans Frank, Wilhelm Frick, Julius Streicher, Fritz Sauckel, Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, Arthur Seyss-Inquart and Martin Bormann (in absentia).

Rudolf Hess, third ranking German until his strange wartime flight to Scotland, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Also sentenced to life were Walter Funk and Grand Adm. Erich Raeder.

Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, who surrendered Germany was fuerher in the last few days of the war, received a 10-year sentence.

Baldur von Schirach, Hitler youth leader, and Albert Speer, German war crimes against humanity.

The three who were freed by the court were Hjalmar Schacht, former German economics minister and Reichsbank president; Franz Von Papen, long-time German diplomat; and Hans Fritzsche, one time deputy propaganda minister.

Eight defendants were convicted on count one of the indictment—conspiracy to commit the other three acts charged last night. They were, in addition to Goering, Hess and Ribbentrop, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command; Alfred Rosenberg, official Nazi philosopher; Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, former German naval commander; Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff of the German army; and Constantin Von Neurath, former foreign minister.

In addition to Goering and Ribbentrop, four others—Keitel, Rosenberg, Jodl and Von Neurath—were convicted on all four counts in the indictment.

Goering's expression did not change as the tribunal judged him guilty. Hess did not even look up. Turn to GOERING, Page 5

One To Go

The Pittsburgh power strike may be remembered best for the demonstration of judicial weakness it staged.

Organized labor had demonstrated on many occasions that it held no respect and conceded no clear authority to the executive branch of government. The Pittsburgh strike presented an occasion to show contempt for the judicial branch.

A chain of events led to the granting of an injunction against leaders of the power strike. One of them, the principal leader, was cited for contempt of court and sentenced to prison. But upon the demand of the union, backed up by the law enforcement official who had demanded the injunction, the injunction was dissolved and the union leader who had been jailed was released. This curious outcome was brought about by the union's edict that otherwise it would not consider a proposal by the employer for ending the strike. As a requisite to collective bargaining, a court had to reverse itself because a union didn't like one of its decisions.

In the United States, government is comprised of executive, judicial and legislative branches. Organized labor has asserted its authority over the first two, not once but many times, in many parts of the country. There remains only the legislative branch to be roped and tied until government can abdicate and government for, by and of labor unions will cease to be a possibility and become the real thing.

A Reformee Has His Doubts

New Deal advocates are revealing that their party line this fall is to tell voters to be grateful at the polls for the reforms that occurred under Franklin D. Roosevelt—the era of the More Abundant Life.

This is the kind of politics that may backfire. A reformer in 1946 has trouble thinking back to the More Abundant Life. He can't see party line through the picket lines and meat lines, as it were. It is too much like the Republicans in 1932 telling voters to remember Coolidge prosperity.

There have been so many New Deal reforms . . . It has reformed the average man out of eating meat. He is a vegetarian now. It has reformed him out of his nasty habit of gobbling sugar. He is safe from diabetes, but his dry cereal without cream is mighty dry.

New Deal reformers have helped him overcome his greediness about getting ahead of the game. With the aid of a tax system that penalizes him for saving, he no longer has those bad thoughts about putting something aside for a rainy day.

The reform movement gets credit for saving him and the country from the evil effects of overwork. It has made it easy to maximize the minimum and minimize the maximum. Things now come out about avert age, which has made it possible to whittle down efficiency to the disappearing point and made courtesy to customers on the part of formerly-overworked help a disappearing national custom.

The reformers have abolished the old-fashioned habit of thinking of income and outgo as parts of the same thing. This has emancipated the country. It has spent its way out of a depression, through a war and hell-bent into a runaway inflation. This may be their master triumph.

But they also get credit for repealing the unwritten law that in America men shall not agitate the old-world concept of a straited society, in which everybody thinks according to his economic station. That was quite a triumph too after a century and a-half of doing it the other way.

The outcome is in doubt, but with a little luck New Deal reformers will get credit for showing Americans it is possible to survive in pasteboard houses, in 10-year-old automobiles, in the middle of a black-market economy, without soap and without hope. If they hustle, they may even teach the little kiddies to say Abraham Lincoln and Boss Pendergast in the same reverent breath.

These are not the reforms New Dealers want voters to remember this November, but they are some of the reforms voters are finding it hard to forget. That's the irony of politics. People remember the wrong things. When they should be grateful because the New Deal made it impossible for the stock market to scare the daylight out of speculators, they keep thinking about no meat, or something absurd like that.

It Works

National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8, is an easy occasion for the press to think about what it's doing, something its readers obviously think about without waiting for a special occasion.

Theme of this year's week is the newspaper as a public servant. This refers to the services the press performs, not only for its readers but for all the public. That takes in a lot of territory—from the weather report to the higher functions of the fourth estate, which is a formal way of saying that the press is charged with responsibility for preserving human dignity and men's freedom from oppression. It is a big order and it is being filled in the United States with the most intricate organization for gathering and transmitting information and ideas that the mind of man can conceive. Or rather it is too intricate for the mind of man to handle. It is like all our other complexities that serve modern civilization; no one person can understand everything about them. But if they work, that's all that matters.

The American press works. It is doing its job. The American people are better informed on a wider variety of subjects than any other population. They are in daily contact with information from every part of the world. They know what happened yesterday, is happening today and likely to happen tomorrow. The more than 50,000,000 newspapers they read each day have become valuable out of all proportion to the few pennies they cost apiece. They are as fundamental to the way Americans live and get along as debates in Congress and the inalienable right of newspaper readers to prove that the editor is a fool, or a knave, or probably both.

Since the beginning of World War II, when Hitler's bully-boys began to make disagreement with the fuhrer a lethal error in conduct, newspapermen have been aware of something many of them never thought of before. The first move a dictatorship would make in the United States, if it ever happened here, would be to close up the newspapers. Rather, it would try to close them up before, because dictatorship and freedom of speech don't go together.

A thought of that nature sets National Newspaper Week apart from national noodle week, dog week, candy week and the week that comes once a year when it is time to clean up the old newspapers littering the back yard.

THE exceptional strength of planetary intervention on this day should stimulate and encourage the use of novel, ingenious, original and clever operations to a degree of sensational and revolutionary denouement. In this, public, professional, political or diplomatic, as well as community issues are involved, with promise of commensurate rewards for work well done.

All elements should be shrewdly analyzed and clearly evaluated, lest obscure, even tricky, side issues negative possible spectacular gain, honors and happiness as well. The mind should be keyed to brilliant performance.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of an exciting, adventurous and probably spectacular year in which some outstanding idea, talent, creative skill or intellectual sagacity—brilliant, novel, ingenious, even startling or dramatic—assure public honors, distinction and prestige, as well as private gain and romantic adventure. But all this thrilling circumstance and bright prospect must be based on reason, good sense and practical performance and not "flash in the pan" or "phony" bids for public acclaim.

A child born on this day will be brilliantly endowed with exceptional ideas, inspirations or creative talents, promising a gainful, popular and happy career.

A New Penicillin Treatment

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

ONE of the newest methods of treatment for infections of the body's air passages is by what might be called "penicillin mist."

This very promising treatment is made possible by the invention of a device which breaks liquids into a fine fog or mist that can be breathed into the lungs. The device itself is called a nebulizer and the vapor it creates is known as an aerosol.

It is easy to see that when a lungful of penicillin mist is breathed in, the penicillin is brought into direct contact with bacteria anywhere and everywhere along the air routes, from the throat, down through the windpipe and thence to the bronchi or small tubes of the lung itself.

Carrying Out Treatment

In carrying out the treatment the nebulizer is connected with an oxygen tank. The penicillin solution is put into the nebulizer and when the patient breathes in, the oxygen is turned on. When he breathes out, the oxygen is turned off. This treatment can be carried out in the doctor's office as well as in the hospital.

Dr. Bennie Mecklin of Watertown, New York, has used the treatment with aerosol penicillin in patients with a variety of disorders, such as pneumococcus infection of the lung, infections of the throat and lungs with streptococcus and staphylococcus lung infections due to viruses, that is, organisms so small that they can pass through the openings in a porcelain filter and in which complications due to secondary infection with streptococcus and similar germs have occurred.

The treatment also has been used in patients with bronchitis, a condition in which the bronchi are stretched or dilated. This condition causes coughing and the bringing up of large amounts of foul smelling material from the lung.

According to Dr. Mecklin, the method of using penicillin has surpassed all other known methods of treating all persistent infections of the upper respiratory organs, that is, the throat, the windpipe and the bronchi.

Penicillin used as the physician directs is a safe preparation with little, if any, danger and it can be life-saving.

PLANE WINS DOGFIGHT WITH RATTLESNAKE

GREAT FALLS, Mont.—While testing a big C-54 Skymaster down a runway at the Great Falls Army airfield, Pilot Robert A. Blair and Co-Pilot O. R. Fossum saw a large rattlesnake coiled in their path. Aided by Flight Engineer S. P. Mossback, they made a pass at the snake but the reptile slithered between the craft's wheels. So they circled deftly and on the second run scored a direct hit that smashed the rattler.

BLACK MARKET THRIVES ON SHORTAGE OF BIBLES

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Exorbitant prices are being charged here in the black market for Bibles. Copies are fetching up to five times their prewar value. Most serious is the shortage of Afrikaans Bibles.

Churchmen declare the famine will handicap any attempt at a religious revival.

"History shows," said one Anglican minister, "that where Bibles are difficult to buy, no religious movement can be of long standing."

At a conservative estimate, South Africa needs 100,000 new English and Afrikaans Bibles.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FEEDING THE CHILDREN

Editor, The News,
A new relief cereal, made of whole grains, and processed at cost, is being distributed in considerable quantity to the starving children in Europe by the American Friends Service committee and other American relief agencies.

According to these agencies, the cereal, which is made from whole grains of oats, wheat and soy beans, is one of the best answers to the problem of bringing speedy and effective relief to starving people.

As of Aug. 1, about 105 carloads of the special relief cereal had been shipped overseas by various relief agencies.

The idea of using whole grains for a relief cereal was first conceived by Lucy Griscom Morgan, member of the Society of Friends and wife of Arthur Morgan, leading educator and engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan then approached William H. Danforth with their idea for the new cereal. Mr. Danforth and wife were sympathetic to the project, and the research staff of his company were set to work on the cereal. Their experiments were successful, and the special relief cereal was the result.

The cereal is processed at the company's mill at Davenport, Iowa, and sold to these relief agencies at the cost of production.

It is shipped in 100 pound bags, fitted with waterproof interliners, to Quaker and other relief workers abroad, who supervise its distribution. One carload, or 600 bags, of the relief cereal provides a large, generous, nourishing meal to about a half million people, at a cost of less than one cent per serving.

Mrs. Danforth was so much interested in the project that she wanted to pay for the first carload and we understand that she has already paid for three carloads. The entire output of this special cereal is being shipped abroad for the starving people of foreign countries.

Those interested may contribute cash to buy the already processed cereal, or they may contribute the grain needed in carload lots or in lesser quantities. In several states farm bureaus and Granges are supporting the program.

The American Friends Service committee is known for the work it did following World War I, especially the job of child feeding it did in Germany. This organization has only been able to accomplish the work it has done through the generosity of those who have contributed combined with the friendly and sympathetic attitude of those who had the care of the child feeding. Every cent contributed goes into the purchase of this cereal as the overhead of the organization is paid out of the general fund.

They find that while the food and clothing that is being sent over is very much appreciated the thing that most of these unfortunates appreciate is the fact that some body cares. A helping hand extended when a fellow is down means much to him and if we can extend the right hand of fellowship with these material things, we will be doing much to restore the morale of war torn countries.

Those interested in further details may write to the American Friends Service committee, 20 S. Twelfth St., Philadelphia 7, Pa., or call Ed F. Stratton in Salem.

3 Acquitted Nazis Led Varied Roles

(By Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Oct. 1.—Three of 22 Nazi defendants on trial on war crimes charges were acquitted by the international military tribunal today. They are Hjalmar Schacht, Franz von Papen and Hans Fritzsche.

The tribunal said of Schacht: "He helped set up the early stage of the armament in Germany, but he was opposed to aggressive war and resigned in 1937 when it became evident Hitler was headed toward war."

"Schacht was not involved in the planning of any of the specific wars of aggression. He was clearly not one of the inner circle around Hitler. He was regarded by this group with undisguised hostility."

The testimony of (Albert) Steer (Nazi munitions minister) showed that Schacht's arrest on July 23, 1944, was based as much on Hitler's enmity towards Schacht, growing out of his attitude before the war as it was on suspicion of his complicity in the bomb plot."

Cite Von Papen's Acts

In acquitting Von Papen, accused of engineering Hitler's rise to power, the tribunal said: "The evidence leaves no doubt that Von Papen's primary purpose as minister to Austria was to undermine the Schuschnigg regime and strengthen the Austrian Nazis for the purpose of bringing about the Anschluss."

"To carry out this plan he engaged in both intrigue and bullying. But the charter does not make criminal such offenses against political morality."

The tribunal found that Fritzsche twice attempted to suppress Julius Streicher's anti-Semitic publication and did not urge persecution of the Jews.

"It appears," the court said, "that Fritzsche sometimes made strong the way to a man's heart...

WHAT, NO ROMANCE?

Why certainly. But even the glamour gals must have noticed that, come dinner time, the male of the species is quite apt to cast his eye in the direction of the kitchen, his nostrils quivering for scent of a sizzling steak. Yes, at least one route to a man's heart is via his stomach.

But this is no news to the great majority of American homemakers—those wise, loyal wives who see to it that their husbands are the world's best fed men. It's no easy task—planning three meals a day, every day... shopping for food... balancing a budget against rising food costs—but these wonderful women have proved more than equal to it.

And that's one of the very good reasons why every homemaker deserves the help of a modern automatic Gas range—that marvelous device which so dependably and economically carries out her plans for delicious, nutritious meals. The proven way of cooking!

a TIP to husbands— who appreciate good cooking

Some new Gas ranges are already on display at your Gas Company office and at your dealer's. But, even if you can't find exactly the model you want, it's a good idea to put your name in for earliest possible delivery.

intended for overseas use from Argentina. Present sanitary regulations prevent the importation of Argentine meat into this country.

On Scarce Item List

Anderson's short supply list was the second monthly forecast he is required to give under terms of the new price control act. No new items were added from the September table, which besides meat, included these other major commodities still classed as scarce:

Wheat, corn, rye, rice, buckwheat flour, barley, grain sorghums, dry beans and peas, milk and butterfat, mohair, soybeans, cottonseed, flaxseed, peanut oil and meal, olive oil, most sugars and syrups, malt beverages, candy and confectionery, jams, jellies, preserves, fruit spreads, most canned fish and fish flakes, and soft drinks.

As items go off the list they automatically are removed from price control.

Thus in the case of canned fruits and vegetables, only tomatoes and tomato products, except soup and mixed juices, still are under OPA ceilings.

Besides complying with Anderson's findings on canned fruits and corn, OPA acted independently today to lift price ceilings from chewing gum, prepared flour mixes and agricultural insecticides and fungicides.

Previously the price agency announced a two and one-half cent a pound boost in the retail price of oleomargarine, cooking and salad oils, mayonnaise, salad dressing and shortening.

Cotton textile prices were raised for the fourth time in two months under the new requirement that they be revised monthly in line with raw cotton prices.

from his scribbling as the court read the verdict in his case.

Ribbentrop sagged in his seat as U. S. Justice Francis Biddle listed the crimes charged against him and found him guilty of all.

Twelve of the 16 defendants charged under the second count—crimes against the peace—were convicted. They were Goering, Hess, Ribbentrop, Keitel, Rosenberg, Raeder, Jodl, Neurath, Wilhelm Frick, former protector of Bohemia and Moravia; Walter Funk, former Reichsbank president; Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, former commander in chief of the German navy; and Arthur Seyss-Inquart, formerly gauleiter for the Netherlands.

Those acquitted on this count in addition to Schacht and Von Papen were Fritz Sauckel, SS and SA general; and Albert Speer, former Nazi munitions minister.

Guilty of War Crimes

On the third count—war crimes—18 defendants were charged and 16 were convicted: Goering, Ribbentrop, Keitel, Rosenberg, Frick, Funk, Doenitz, Raeder, Sauckel, Jodl, Seyss-Inquart, Speer, Neurath, Martin Bormann, Adolf Hitler's deputy, tried in absentia; Ernst von Kaltenbrunner, chief of the secret police; Hans Frank, Nazi governor general of Poland. Acquitted on this count were Hess and Fritzsche.

Sixteen of the 18 charged with crimes against humanity—the fourth count—also were convicted: Goering, Bormann, Ribbentrop, Keitel, Kaltenbrunner, Rosenberg, Frank, Frick, Funk, Sauckel, Jodl, Seyss-Inquart, Speer, Neurath, Julius Streicher, Nazi Jew-baiter; and Baldur von Schirach, Hitler's youth chief. Acquitted of this count were Hess and Fritzsche.

"Truelone Dandy" Salem's First Champ

"Truelone Dandy," a 13-inch Beagle owned by Dick Lawrence of Salem, is the first known champion of his breed to be brought out of Salem and is the fifth champion from the Mahoning County Beagle club in more than 20 years of competition.

The beautiful 29-month-old hound has compiled a total of 154 points, including three firsts in all-age license trials and the 75 points necessary to make a field champion.

His record includes: third in Eastern Liverpool spring derby, 1945; third in Mahoning-Trumbull fall derby, 1945; second in Northern Ohio derby, 1945; first in Stark derby, 1945; fourth in the National All-Age, 1945; fourth in the Garden State derby, 1945 and second in the Chagrin Valley sanctioned affair, first in the keystone age class of 46 at Uniontown, Pa., second in the northern Ohio all-age class of 40 at Titusville, Pa. All of the latter groups were won in 1946.

Dandy's dam, "Smith's Tiny Anna" is owned by Charles Smith of Salem. The champion was bred and born in Salem.

Dyer, Durocher Matching Strategy In Game Today

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—Throw out 154 games and a 14-8 season edge for St. Louis over Brooklyn and start the real 1946 National league race today as Managers Eddie Dyer and Leo Durocher match wits and strategy in the opener of a three-game tie playoff—the first ever held in major league baseball.

Howie Pollet, the Cardinals' ailing No. 1 hurler, probably holds the key to the situation in the aching muscles of his left side. The slender southpaw has been poison to the Brooks and Dyer's ace-in-the-hole when the going gets tough.

Dyer won't know if Pollet, who has been knocked out of the box by Chicago in his last two starts, can take his turn until he lets him warm up in the Sportsman park before the game.

If he's "right," Pollet will pitch and Card supporters who have made their favorites a surprising 13 to 20 choice will breathe more easily. If not, Dyer will fall back on Murry Dickson, a wiry right-hander who has beaten the Dodgers three times and lost once on relief.

There is no secret in the fact that Dyer has pointed his Cardinal club for Leo Durocher's club all season long. He confided before the season that "Brooklyn is the team to beat."

Durocher Hunches Uncanny

There is no key figure holding the fate of the Dodgers' master plan. It is based on Durocher's hunches and uncanny ability to call on the right men at the right time.

Brimming with confidence, as usual, the Dodger manager has picked Ralph Branca, a 20-year-old collegian from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., to hurl the vital game. This was no wild scheme concocted in the dead of night, for Branca has been extremely effective against the Birds.

A happy Dodger fan holds up tickets for Thursday's playoff game, purchased in Brooklyn after a two-hour wait in line in the rain. Newspaper covers his head for rain protection.

Ward, Boone, Miner Shine As Quakers Romp To Easy Victory

Salem High's Reserves, coached by Frank Tarr, swept to an easy 24-0 victory over Howard Parker's East Palestine Reserves in a downpour of cold rain at Reilly field Monday night before about 1,500 fans.

The Quakers completely outclassed their opponents as they rolled to four touchdowns and more than doubled the yardage gained by the Bulldogs on the ground.

The Red and Black broke the scoring ice early in the second period after the initial quarter had seen the ball exchange hands twice by fumbles—all in East Palestine territory. Salem gained possession by intercepting a Bulldog pass on their opponent's 41 yard stripe.

Tom Miner passed to Dick Tolson for 16 yards and then Lee Ward took over. He crashed off tackle and around end for gains of eight, 17 and five yards, the last run crossing the goal line. Rudy Marscher missed the conversion kick.

Later in the same quarter, Salem recovered an East Palestine fumble on the enemy's 37. Three running plays put the ball on the 23, from where Ward rambled 20 yards to the three. Ted Boone crashed over for the second score of the game on the next play. Marscher again missed the kick.

Midway in the third period a six yard East Palestine punt was taken on their 35 by Ted Boone, who found a lane down the left sideline and raced down it to go over standing up, without having a hand laid on him. Marscher's third kick of the evening was blocked.

At about that point in the game the rain began to fall in sheets and made ball handling and passing a precarious chore.

Salem's last tally came in the fourth period. After holding the Bulldogs at mid-field and taking the ball on downs the Quakers shook "Little Boy" Faulkner loose and he scampered 50 yards to pay dirt. Marscher's fourth attempt for the extra point was wide.

The fans were amused by the antics of the inexperienced East Palestine players who could not seem to get their positions straightened out. At one point in the fourth quarter, Salem kicked off with 16 of the young Bulldogs on the field. Coach Parker was finally summoned to place each player in the lineup by hand and then herd

FROSH LOSE

The Broadway Junior High of Alliance proved to be too tough for Salem's Freshmen squad as they swept to a 15-0 victory in the preliminary game Monday night.

The little Aviators went through the line for their first touchdown in the first quarter and passed for their second in the second period. A blocked punt resulted in a safety for Alliance in the third quarter to complete the scoring.

The Reserve squad will go into action again next Monday when they tangle with a strong Youngstown Woodrow Wilson squad at Reilly stadium.

The Farmers National Bank

OF SALEM, OHIO

There Wouldn't be a Salem
Without the Farmer

In 1803 the unbroken "forest primeval" covered the site of present-day Salem. Thirty years later, timber had become so scarce that a local saw mill fell into disuse. The forest had given way to prosperous farms, and in 1846, when it was decided to organize a bank in Salem, the institution was named the Farmers Bank of Salem.

Thus from its very establishment, Salem's Oldest Bank has been the friend and co-worker of the folks on the farms of the district.

Farming has changed almost beyond recognition the past 100 years. Ox-power was succeeded by horse-power: first, Old Dobbin's four legs, then steam, gasoline and lately fuel oil. Crop rotation, soil conservation, scientific dairying and live-stock production, poultry raising and fruit growing have broadened the base of farm income and made the Salem area a farming district with few equals.

On the occasion of our Centennial, we're proud to have had so large a part in all of this — proud that we're still the Farmers National Bank.
